

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT four persons were killed at the canal landing on W. Main-st. Sept. 20, 1836, while in the act of firing a salute in honor of President Andrew Jackson, who stopped here on his return to Washington.

"General" Jackson, as he was popularly known, had been vacationing at the "hermitage" in Nashville, Tenn., and was returning to take up his official duties at the capitol when the accident occurred. Circleville had prepared a rousing welcome for him, although it was known that his boat would only stop here 10 or 15 minutes.

According to The Herald of the time, the four men who were killed were engaged in ramming a third charge into a cannon when the piece unexpectedly exploded. The force of the explosion was so great that three of the men, Joseph Bonser, Silas Ward and Joseph Tanner were killed instantly, while the fourth victim, a man named Johnston, died several hours later.

President Jackson was moved to tears at the melancholy scene, it is reported in The Herald.

THAT MISS ANN CORN WAS NAMED ADMINISTRATOR OF THE ESTATE OF HER FATHER, TIMOTHY CORN, IN PROBATE COURT HERE IN APRIL, 1834.

THAT Felix Renick, brother of William Renick, grandfather of Mrs. James I. Smith and Miss Elizabeth Renick, this city, left here in February, 1834, and sailed for Europe a month later where he secured a large lot of short-horn cattle, the first to be imported to America.

Mr. Renick was the agent of the Ohio Company for Importing English Cattle and secured most of his stock in and near London.

A keen stock raiser, Mr. Renick made the trip in the interest of improving the native stock of this country. He was accompanied on his trip by Edwin J. Harness and Josiah Renick. They sailed from New York on March 8 and returned to this country in late July.

Concerning the voyage, The Herald of the time had the following comment:

"No man in our county is more highly prized than he who contributes to advance the great interests of the farmer, so we wish Mr. Renick and his assistants a prosperous voyage, a speedy return and entire success in the objects they have in view."

A monument to Mr. Renick has been erected in Ross-co., praising his efforts to improve the quality of cattle in America.

THAT the first full-time dentist to arrive in Circleville came in July, 1836, and advertised that "with my new and improved plan of cleaning, your teeth will shine as the snow does on the ground."

He was Charles T. Powell, a dentist surgeon, who formerly had his offices in Columbus. His offices here were in Mrs. Henry's tavern and his trade grew so that he was forced to find an apprentice to assist him. Besides his special cleaning method, Dr. Powell also advertised that he "carried a full line of artificial teeth and could insert from one to a full set at any time."

That a lake-river line, connecting Circleville directly with New York City was completed in July, 1836. A load of merchandise could be transported on 25-ton canal boats from New York City to this city at a rate of 87 1/2 cents per hundred pounds. From New York the route followed to Buffalo and then to Cleveland and down the Ohio canal to this city. Doddridge and Co. were local agents for the line, which later had a thriving business.

HITLER AVOWS ROEHM DEATH SAVED NATION

Nazi Leader Restores Himself to Good Faith With Address

GERMANY PLEASSED

Says Orders Had Been Given to "Kill"

BY H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
Copyright, 1934, by International News Service.

BERLIN, July 14.—Adolf Hitler today is once more the boss of Germany.

Most of Germany's 65,000,000 citizens heard his speech last night. But today they were reading it all over again, and its cleverness and its drama have brought Hitler's prestige again almost to the level of that stage of national enthusiasm which accompanied his ascension to power.

If he has lost some hundreds of thousands, or even a million, storm troopers, he has gained, perhaps, at least as many supporters among those who hated the storm troopers.

Two sets of considerations show the extent of Hitler's political genius. First, it is necessary to appreciate the frame of mind of the German nation last night before Hitler's Reichstag address, and the tension through Germany was great. That was apparent to the most obtuse observer.

CROWDS NERVOUS

The crowds which awaited his passage through the streets of Berlin were white-faced with nervous strain. Why?

Because all Germany had staked its fate on Hitler. He represented Germany's last hope and because of the events of June 30 and thereafter, even Hitler had become suspect. He had killed scores of his old friends and said they were traitors.

He had laid bare the murderous differences within the Nazi party.

JIM COX GIVES WEST SUPPORT

Says White Can't Be Elected and Donahey Against F. D. R. Program.

DAYTON, July 14.—Former Gov. James M. Cox, in a public statement issued here today, announced his intention of supporting Congressman Charles West, Granville, for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator in the August 14 primary election.

Among his reasons for supporting West, the former governor offered his opinion that Gov. George White cannot be nominated and that former Gov. A. Vic Donahey, as the only remaining alternative to Congressman West, "is not in sympathy with the program of President Roosevelt."

W. C. DAVIDSON, 50, DIES FRIDAY NIGHT

W. C. Davidson, 50, died at his home in Williamsport at 9 p. m. Friday, following an illness of several days.

A native of Monroe-twp., Mr. Davidson was born November 4, 1884, and was united in marriage to Miss Annie Dunn, also of Monroe-twp., who survives him.

He also leaves three brothers and three sisters.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church in Williamsport at 3 p. m. Sunday with Rev. W. A. Moore officiating. Burial will be made in Springlawn cemetery with A. W. Kirk, New Holland, in charge.

FIREMEN CALLED

The Williamsport fire department was called to the residence of John Kegg on the Mrs. Frank Bennett farm, Deercreek-twp., Friday night when a fire started near a straw-stack. It is believed a cigarette had been dropped by a member of a threshing outfit which worked there during the day.

The flames were extinguished before they reached the straw pile.

DOUGHTY'S HORSE DIES; CAMPAIGN FOR CONGRESS DELAYED

ZANESVILLE, July 14.—Clark Doughty's "buggy" campaign for congressman-at-large was stopped today with the death of the horse which drew his old-style vehicle.

The horse collapsed and died from the heat while Doughty was driving from Columbus to Zanesville. He got as far as Jacksonstown, about half of the distance.

WOMEN'S CLUB PLANS OUTING

Picnic For All State Candidates In Near Future; Countians Heard.

Pickaway-co Democratic Women's club will sponsor a picnic soon at which all Democratic state candidates will be invited, it was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the organization Friday evening.

The social and program committees of the group have been placed in charge of the meeting and will announce the date of the picnic at a later date.

Twenty-three district and county candidates were present for the court room meeting of the group last night. Mrs. J. B. Cromley, president of the women's group, introduced the candidates, allowing each to make a two-minute talk.

MADER HAS PROGRAM

Three candidates for the Democratic nomination for congressman from the 11th district were present and all pledged their support to President Roosevelt and the New Deal. John F. Mader, this city, Louis M. Day of Chillicothe, and H. B. Welch of Rockbridge were the candidates present. Mr. Mader made known his program in a pamphlet which he distributed. He has a number of points, many of which call for reform, others pledging support to Pres. Roosevelt.

Three of the four Democratic candidates for representative to the General Assembly from Pickaway-co were on hand. H. M. Crites, Clark Hunsicker and A. H. Crownover. Mr. Crites said: "I don't have any platform—I just promise to represent you."

Mr. Hunsicker said he believed his farming and business experience qualified him for the job. Mr. Crownover expressed his willingness, if elected, to cooperate with local organizations in serving the people to the best of his ability.

Other candidates present included William I. Spangler of Tilton, and George M. Morris of Bexley, for state senator; Mrs. Elizabeth Kline Davison, Alice Roof, Mrs. Martin Lutz, Luther Bower, James Thomas and Oscar Woelber, for county recorder; R. G. Colville, Frank Anderson, and

WHEAT CLIMBS TO 87 CENTS AT ELEVATORS

Gains 12 Cents Since Monday When Price Offered Was 75 Cents

CHICAGO NEARS $1

Bumper Corn Crop Is Also Expected

Climaxing a steady climb, wheat reached the 87-cent mark on the local market Saturday reflecting advances at Chicago. The cash price offered to farmers today was two cents higher than Friday's of 85 cents.

Each day during the past week saw a higher offer for the golden grain. Monday's offer was 75 cents, Tuesday's 76, then came a five cent jump to 81 on Wednesday, 82 on Thursday and three cents higher to 85 on Friday.

99-19 AT CHICAGO

September wheat on the Chicago board of trade reached 99-19 cents at its high Saturday but fell slightly to 98-5-8 cents at the close of the market.

The spread between the Chicago quotations and the local prices runs from 10 to 15 cents a bushel to cover the cost of handling and freight.

In spite of the up trend of the last week elevator men discreetly refrained from recommending that farmers store their wheat for further advances. However, one large handler in the county said the practice had shown a sudden increase.

Most of the wheat coming in now is too damp to command full price; in some instances a deduction in the price has been necessary.

By late next week it is believed the greater portion of Pickaway-co's wheat will have been threshed. In nearly every instance yields have been greater than farmers anticipated. Generally the wheat is the best quality in recent years.

CORN IMPROVING

While the corn crop a month ago was threatened by a severe drought, Pickaway-co farmers are now expecting a bumper crop, assuming it isn't blown down by wind storm, infested by corn borers or chinch bugs, or by some other pest that makes a practice of causing damage. Rains in June and July have resulted in a rapid growth.

Man, 28, Admits Slaying Girl, 8

Killed Pet First, Then Choked and Beat Girl; Tried To Bury Body.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Nervously pacing his cell, Albert Ruske, 28, unemployed mechanic who confessed to the brutal slaying of 8-year-old Elaine Watson, asked his jailer today:

"What will they do to me?" Ruske broke down and confessed to the slaying yesterday when he viewed the broken body of the little girl in the city morgue.

"First I killed her rabbit," he said. "Then I took a drink. I grabbed her and choked her."

"She got blue in the face and then—I don't remember very well. There was an empty bottle and I hit her on the head five or six times with the bottle."

"When she was dead I tried to hide her body in the basement."

The body of the girl was found partially buried in the basement of Ruske's home. He is the father of three children.

He denied attacking the girl, although the coroner's autopsy revealed she had been criminally assaulted.

The session has appointed Mrs. Blanche Metchman to take charge of this work, the need of which has been keenly felt when the church on various occasions has found it necessary to delve into the past to find the property of the church and will be kept there for the use of its members.

Hunt Missing New York Boy Feared Kidnaped

Local, state and federal officers have joined in the search for Robert Connor, 21-month-old son of Charles Connor, of Hartsdale Manor, N. Y., state insurance engineer, who vanished after playing in a sandpile near his home. Belief that the boy had been kidnaped was expressed as federal agents, under orders of J. Edgar Hoover, director of investigation in the department of justice, entered the search. Photos show the missing child and his home at Hartsdale Manor.

MISSING CHILD THOUGHT SAFE

Father Says Everything Will Be All Right; Several Theories Seen.

HARTSDALE, N. Y., July 14.—Hope for a "break" sometime today in the suspected kidnaping of 21-months-old Bobby Connor spread rapidly through this exclusive New York city suburb this morning.

Although uncommunicative as to details, Charles H. Connor, father of the missing child, himself gave rise to a report a development was due.

"I don't think there's anything to worry about," he said last night as he came out on the porch of his home to greet reporters. "Things will be all right tomorrow."

Connor's remark was apparent confirmation of a rumor that a ransom note had been received by special delivery mail during the night, although the several local, state and federal authorities here working on the case denied receipt of any ransom communication whatever.

NO ABDUCTION PROOF

In fact, Frank X. Fay, in charge of the department of justice agents working on the case declared "No actual proof of kidnaping" had been found, and other officials confirmed a complete lack of clues to the child's disappearance at 6:00 p. m. Thursday from a spot

The case was given to the jury Friday at 3 p. m. and the body deliberated until 8 o'clock, but was unable to agree. The jury returned this morning at 9 a. m. and when it had not reached a verdict at 11:30 a. m. Judge Adkins ordered its dismissal.

W. M. Reid, the foreman, said the jury was "hopelessly deadlocked."

of maritime workers—23,000 of whom have tied up coast shipping for 66 days—to come to terms with the Longshoremen's and Seamen's unions, with San Francisco and neighborhood cities as the main battleground.

COUNT IS TAKEN

The strike tally today stood: C. I. strike—Longshoremen and Seamen affiliates in San Francisco, Oakland, Seattle, Portland, Los Angeles and San Diego, 23,000 men; 11 non-marine unions in San Francisco and cities on the eastern shore of the bay, 8,000; striking today—six non-marine unions in the San Francisco Bay area, 5,000.

And only awaiting the word from their delegations were more than 200 other unions in San Francisco and Oakland, with memberships of over 100,000 men, reading to join the walkout—to clamp a terrifying general strike on 1,500,000 people.

The decision of a general strike in the San Francisco area was to be reached today at a convocation of 5 delegates from each union, chosen last night when the "strategy committees" of labor councils on both sides of the bay refused to take the responsibility of ordering a general walkout and passed the decision back to the unions.

GUARD'S BULLET HALTS CONVICT'S ESCAPE ATTEMPT

JUNCTION CITY, July 14.—A bullet from a guard's gun today had halted the dramatic attempt "Friday the thirteenth" escape of a convicted highway robber Raymond McElhany, 31, from the brick plant of the Ohio Penitentiary here.

McElhany, who was sentenced to the prison for 10 to 35 years for highway robbery, was wounded in the thigh as a guard fired on him as he dropped over the high wire fence surrounding the brick plant and made a short-lived dash for freedom.

MAJ. BRAUGHT PUTS O. K. ON COUNTY CHOICE

Relief Chief to Recommend Return of Pickaway to "Good Graces"

RELIEF TO RESUME

"Working for Everyone" Says Hay, Chairman

Howard S. Irwin, 329 S. Washington-st., was approved today by Major E. O. Braught, state relief commissioner, as Pickaway-co's new relief director. Irwin was recommended by the county commissioners who have been working diligently since Wednesday to get the relief situation straightened out. Irwin has indicated his intention to accept the post.

He will succeed E. W. "Ernie" Weiler, who served from the time of A. J. Dunkel's resignation until relief, state and federal, was withdrawn from Pickaway-co on July 1.

CERTAIN OF APPROVAL

Major Braught said Saturday after a conference with the Pickaway-co commissioners in the morning that he would recommend to the state relief commission meeting next Tuesday that Pickaway-co be restored to good standing in the state and federal relief machine. It is felt certain that Braught's recommendation will be approved by the commission. Pickaway is the only one of Ohio's 88 counties now outside of the relief fold.

Asked when state and federal relief would be resumed in the county Major Braught said "Not later than August 1." The commissioner also added "I had a very pleasant conference with the Pickaway-co commissioners."

FRICITION IS ENDED

It is now believed that all friction which existed between the county and the state office has been smoothed over. According to the commissioners Braught treated them very well during the conference Thursday and again Saturday morning. John Hay, chairman of the board, said Friday: "This board is representing every person in Pickaway-co, those on relief, laborers and wealthy alike and everything we have done and everything we will do in the future is for the common good of all."

Just what projects will be forwarded as the program is resumed are not known although the airport project, upon which foreign labor was threatened unless the county returned to the good graces of the relief commission, will probably use between 150 and 160 men as soon as formal steps have been taken. Other projects will probably be advanced as they are needed.

FOOD TO COME TO

It is expected new shipments of food will be started to this city, and it is also believed the rural development program will be resumed.

AUTO WRECKS LOADED WAGON

Leo D. Kricker, of Portsmouth, suffered a severe gash over the right eye, and his niece, Miss Helen Wilson, also of Portsmouth, received a cut on the nose, when their Chevrolet coupe struck a wagon-load of wheat on Route 104 in Wayne-twp. Friday afternoon.

William McQuade, Ross-co., had charge of the wagon and was driving south on the road. Miss Wilson, also driving south, attempted to pass the wagon and the front fender of her car caught on the rear wheel of the wagon turning it over.

The wagon, property of Ward Peck, Wayne-twp., was almost completely demolished. Ten bushels of the wheat were lost.

The injury were treated by Dr. G. W. Heffner.

We have been studying Jeroboam in our Bible school. He was the first king of the Northern kingdom after the division on the death of Solomon. In order to hold the loyalty of the people and to prevent their going up to the temple at Jerusalem he set up two golden calves in the North and in the South. The pretext that he gave was that it "was too much" for the people to go all the way to Jerusalem to worship. That is one of the easy ways of thinking in which we indulge. It is too much to be asked to go to church every Sunday. It is too hot. It is too cold. It is raining. And so our lax thinking forms our habits and our habits build our characters. One of our great dangers is that we set up golden calves of selfishness and indolence—for we could never worship an idol, oh no. So we neglect the worship of the true God. Go to church tomorrow, take a friend.

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE CHURCH

Dean Chester Burge Emerson has said, "The business of the church is an inclusive ministry to the whole life of men. It isn't living that matters so much but whether there is a meaning and a worth to living and whether we can find strength and courage to seek and hold them."

"So the church should be a place of instruction, not in pious platitudes but in religious needs; not in social programs but in social purposes. She deals with permanent worth and ultimate realities."

"She must likewise be a place of inspiration. The real contest of human life is how to keep our courage to the sticking point of our ideals. The church is a fellowship of strugglers, not a cloister for saints."

"She must have a ministry of consolation. There is a limit to man's endurance—God must bear the rest. There is an end to man's resistance—God must keep up the fight. The church must help men to this certainty." "Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?"

The training department for ministers in the Presbyterian churches embraces an organization which includes 136 professors in a dozen institutions. They have approximately 1000 students and seminaries libraries containing a half million books. The value of the property and endowments of these schools is $17,000,000.

The resignation of William Ralph Inge, 74, long known as "the gloomy dean" of St. Paul's cathedral, London, was announced recently. He will be succeeded in October by Walter Robert Matthews, dean of Exeter. Dean Inge was among churchmen who held that religion must take cognizance of science.

A national world peace movement is being inaugurated by former Secretary of War Baker and being given general publicity by the League of Nations Association. A world peace petition is to circulate which reads: "Who sign this petition to let the administration know it can rely upon the united support of millions of Americans when it finds opportunity to associate America with those who are seeking to coordinate the modern peace machinery and improve it by revision of the covenant so that it will be effective to prevent an international calamity from which we, with the rest of mankind, must suffer unpredictable griefs."

A distinguished group of leaders in the field of religion attended the series of round table conferences on Protestant, Catholic and Jewish relationships in America and on various aspects of the program and function of the church which was held at the University of West Va. under the auspices of the National Conference of Jews and Christians.

With a net gain of 655,482 communicants in 1933, church membership in the United States has reached a new high mark of 60,812,574 according to the annual statistics announced by The Christian Herald. Largest gain in membership was reported by the Methodist Episcopal church which won 213,662 new members, second the Baptists with a gain of 193,571.

The largest single denomination in the United States is the Roman Catholic church with a total membership of 20,324,014.

GOD'S CARE FOR ELIJAH

LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 17:1-16:19:1-8.

GOLDEN TEXT—For after all these things do the Gentiles seek: for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. Matthew 6:32.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How God Took Care of Elijah.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How God Took Care of Elijah.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Does God Provide?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God's Constant Care.

I. Elijah's Message to Ahab (v. 1).

This was a most startling message, for Ahab had not only led Israel into idolatry but into the repudiation of the living God.

1. "As the Lord God of Israel liveth," Elijah knew that he represented the living God when he came into the king's presence.

2. "Before whom I stand." Because Elijah stood before God he could stand before Ahab.

3. "There shall not be dew nor rain these years but according to my word." The suspension of moisture continued for three and a half years and was given in answer to Elijah's prayer (James 5:17). Drought was predicted as a punishment for idolatry (Deut. 11:16, 17) and the prophet was now applying the divine judgment.

II. Elijah's Retirement (vv. 2, 3). As soon as he had delivered his message he retired from the king's side while the penalty of the king's sin should be visited upon the land. Though God's prophets must be separated from men they are in God's presence.

III. God Provides for Elijah (vv. 2:18; 19:1-8).

1. At the brook Cherith (vv. 2-7) God offered a hiding place for his servant who so fearlessly declared his message. He was sustained in a two-fold way.

a. By drinking of the brook (vv. 4-6). While drinking of the literal waters of the brook he was being nourished by the living water from the throne of God.

b. By being fed by the ravens (vv. 4-6). The ravens brought him bread and flesh both morning and evening. Elijah thus enjoyed two meals each day with water to drink. The same God who sustained Elijah still lives and we should trust him for our daily bread. At last the brook dried up because there was no rain in the land. The Lord then instructed him to move.

2. At Zarephath (vv. 8-16). Observe

a. The place (v. 9). Zarephath was at the west side of Palestine near the Mediterranean sea in Gentile territory. In order to reach this place Elijah had to cross the country from the Jordan to the sea. Perhaps he did this at night in order not to be seen. Zarephath was only a few miles from the home of Jezebel's father.

b. Sustained by a widow (vv. 10-12). "Bring a little water and a morsel of bread," was the request which he made of the widow. This was a great trial to her but God had touched her heart and stirred up faith in her. Her reply reveals her deep distress.

c. Elijah's reply (v. 13). This made plain to her that it was a case of mutual interest to do as the prophet said. "The barrel of meal shall not waste, neither shall the cruse of oil fail." May we learn from Elijah's experience.

(1) The particularity of God's providence. He by preachment meets our daily needs. There are no happenings in God's providence. The woman of Zarephath going out to gather sticks to prepare the last meal met Elijah and is helped for two years.

(2) No matter how small our resources we can do something for God if we will. Let no one be discouraged because he is poor and unknown.

(3) We should give our all to God and trust him for further supply. The best way to help ourselves is to help others. This woman gave one morsel to God's prophet and obtained a supply for herself and family for two or more years.

(4) God often allows us to get down to great extremities in order to teach us that all is from him.

(5) God's dealing with this Gentile woman is a foretelling of his dealing with the Gentile nations.

IV. He Sent an Angel to Cook Elijah's Meal (1 Kings 19:6, 7). Elijah was greatly discouraged and despondent over the strain of his struggle which culminated on Mt. Carmel. God was very tender in his dealing with him. He not only gave him sleep (v. 6) but provided food for him at the hand of an angel.

Greatest Inspiration Let us earnestly and solemnly surrender ourselves afresh to the Lord Jesus Christ for service. We cannot afford to let the world find in gain or in pleasure a greater inspiration than we can find in our religion.

Humanity is one of the last and most conspicuous signs of man's spiritual progress.

The little man envies the successful person. The big man emulates him.

Words without worthy ideas are like bodies without worthy souls.

All profound religion is an effort to answer the challenge of pessimism.—Niebuhr.

What is the value of a vacation church school?

The vacation church school serves five purposes. (1) It furnishes to the community children a means of keeping idle hands from evil and enjoying interesting occupation. It is a training school in craft work. Provides Bible knowledge and develops a cooperative Christian attitude. (2) It is a source of comfort to parents to know their children are so ably taken care of in the summer months and they are proud of their achievements. (3) A staff of teachers is developed among the younger students aiding in the vacation school and they can be used in the church school later. (4) The vacation church school brings into the regular Sunday school children who probably could not be reached otherwise. (5) It has opened the door of many non-church homes to the pastor and thus to the church. This brings personal contacts in sickness, death, weddings, baptisms, all of which present opportunities to cement friendships for the church.

Our business is to get rid of evil, not to supervise it.

Making a quick jump toward new ideas does not necessarily mean that one is hardheaded with old ones.

Unwarranted opposition makes progress more difficult.

Circleville Oils Defeat Mecca in 6 to 3 Game

Protecting an early lead the Circleville Oils defeated the Mecca restaurant, 6-3, in a hot ball game Friday evening. A large crowd attended the fray which was considered one of the important games of the second half.

The game ended in an argument when the Oils leading by three runs the Mecca put men on first and second with two out. Bunk Radcliff hit a bouncer to Art Steele and when the runner was called out at first base the Mecca players swarmed onto the field objecting to Umpire John Rooney's decision. His verdict stood, however, as umpire's orders usually do, and the ball game was over.

RULE BOOK QUOTED

"There shall be no appeal from any decision of the umpire or umpires on the ground that he was not correct in his or their decision that a batted ball was fair or foul, that a base runner was out or safe, a pitched ball was a ball or strike, or on any other decision involving accuracy or judgment; nor shall any decision of an umpire be reversed unless he is convinced that it was a misinterpretation of one of the rules."

The Oils started an offensive against George Vlerobome in the very first inning that was short-lived with a runner thrown out at the plate and another at third base. One run scored, however, on hits by White, Purcell, Barnes, Geib and Steele. The Mecca tied it in the second on a walk to Kline, Walker's error on Vlerobome's badly bounding ball and Merle Davis' single.

CRAZY BASE RUNNING

The Oils scored three in the third as Purcell singled and Barnes was safe on Hickey's error to start the inning. Steele singled but Purcell held third. Barnes, however, ran toward third forcing Purcell off and when Gordon dropped his ball the Oil pitcher scored. Barnes made third and Steele second on a further rundown with Barnes making a pretty slide to gain the third sack. Walker then drove a terrific ball to center field that handcuffed Earl Radcliff, Barnes and Steele scoring. The scorer gave Radcliff an error on the ball but it would have been justifiable to have tallied it the other way since the ball was hard hit and low, the fielder running in for it.

One was out when Purcell dropped Bunk Radcliff's pop back of the box. He stole second and took third on a passed ball, scoring on Wilson's fly to left. Kline's double and J. Davis' single were wasted.

The Mecca was through scoring until the seventh when Judy Gordon drove one far past the automobiles in left center for the circuit. No one was on base.

MERRIMAN PLATES 2

The final Oil runs were tallied in the sixth when Walker and Moore singled. Both moved up on White's out and Merriman plated them with a drive to the outfield. The Oils outdid the Mecca 13 to 7, committing two errors against four. Carl Purcell, Oil hurler, did pretty well considering that he had spent the day in the Chillicothe city bastille before a fine of $5 and costs was paid. Purcell was picked up after an automobile accident in the Ross-co city. Vlerobome and W. Hegele divided the Mecca mound duties.

Howard White and Purcell each with three hits led the winners while J. Davis and Gordon each had two for the losers, the latter's being a home run and triple, both coming with the pitch empty.

Wednesday, Eshelman Feeds vs. Purina Chows.
Thursday, an open date the Container Corporation and Mecca restaurant postponing its game because of the Camp Perry training.

An important meeting of managers is scheduled for Monday evening with all final player lists to be filled—All teams are entitled to 12 players—No transfers or trades from one team to another are permitted from now on the remainder of the half—One of the most recent releases was Bud Miller from the McClarren Meats to the Purina Chows; he'll play right field for the Purina team giving that outfit a nice lineup.

PHELPS TOO TOUGH, RED BIRDS BEATEN

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 14.—Their wings clipped by a 7 to 1 defeat handed them yesterday by the St. Paul triple A club, the Columbus Red Birds today were to again face the Saints in an attempt to avenge the loss.

The Saints earned five runs in the first two innings of the tilt yesterday, and with Babe Phelps, pitching almost shut-out ball for them, they coasted to victory.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 14.—Their series evened when the Toledo Mud Hens beat the Minneapolis Millers 7 to 4, the two teams were to meet here again today.

Uhlir and Perrin pitched the Toledoans to the win while Starr and Marrow worked on the mound for the Millers. Starr was marked up with the loss and Perrin was credited with the win.

just a few yards from his home. Greensburg police, meanwhile, were inclined to give credence to the belief that Bobby might have been killed accidentally by a hit-and-run driver who, panic-stricken, fled with the body rather than face arrest.

HUNT CAR DRIVER

At the direction of Police Chief Philip McQuillan, detectives launched an intensive search for a mysterious young woman who was seen at the wheel of a speeding sedan shortly after the baby vanished. A description of the agitated girl, hunched over the wheel of the car, was furnished by Howard Schwagerman, father of Ruth Schwagerman, 3-year-old playmate of Bobby. Ruth was the last to see him toddle toward the sandpile where the trail ends.

A bloodhound, property of R. H. Kress, ten-cent store magnate, of Ossining, led a posse of more than 1,000 state troopers, citizens and Boy Scouts to this spot. But there the animal lost the spoor. Repeatedly the dog was brought back to the Connor lawn for a new start. Each time he led the searchers to the sand pile. He was unable, however, to go any further.

Meanwhile the mother of the missing child, Celia O'Connor, recovering from a collapse, found comfort in holding her baby, Julia, seven-months-old, in her arms.

CLASS TO KINGSTON

The men's Sunday School class of the United Brethren church, D. L. Buchanan, leader, will go to Kingston Sunday for a joint meeting with the class of the Methodist church in that village.

Oakie was arrested here early yesterday charged with intoxication and reckless driving and spent five hours in jail before he was taken before a judge, fined and allowed to depart for Hollywood.

Important Move

A POSSIBILITY of real good being accomplished resides in the move made by the treasury department for two surveys to be conducted this summer.

One of the studies will be in the nature of a financial and revenue survey. The other will deal with money and banking.

"The purpose is to open up the treasury and take a look at it from the inside," the treasury head, Mr. Morgenthau, explained. "The committees will have a free hand to review all treasury policies."

Included in the study by the currency and banking group will be "the question of monetary standards, the various types of currency, the various types of credit institutions in the country, their interrelationships and the existing methods of regulation and control thereof, and the relation of credit and currency policy to business stability and maintenance of steady employment."

Of equal importance will be the work of the other group, which will embrace in its survey "the federal tax system with special reference to need for administrative revision and simplification, to the distribution of tax burdens, to the relationship between the federal and the state and local revenue systems, and to the possibility of making use of revenue provisions as business stabilizing devices."

The studies should serve to throw needed light on several important questions, including better coordination among federal, state and local taxes, a move that has been advocated for years by tax experts. What changes if any are needed to give further permanent strength to the American banking system is another question that, in the opinion of some authorities, need to be considered.

If the surveys are to prove profitable, those making them should, of course, possess special qualifications and they should have an absolutely free hand in conducting their studies.

Senator Borah is the best orator in the Senate, according to a poll of newspaper reporters who cover Congress; Senator Glass is the ablest Democrat; Senator Reed the most able Republican and Senator Wagner the most popular and most industrious. Huey Long was left unclassified, something that his colleagues, however, have not been negligent in doing.

Residential Building

HOW the construction industry responds to the federal housing program is a question the answer to which will bear an important relation to general recovery.

The act was intended to aid in the financing of home construction by reducing the interest rates on loans. Interest rates, however, are not the only obstacles holding back construction work. The cost of materials and labor are important considerations.

Passage of the home building act was followed by an announcement from the construction industry that reductions ranging from 10 to 15 per cent in the prices of materials were contemplated in an effort to give a push to the program. Representatives of the building trades, however, have come forward with no statement of their attitude.

There is no doubt that the nation is in need of a great number of new homes. Only about $300,000,000 a year is being placed in new homes now as against something like a billion dollars annually in the years before the depression. This can but mean that there is a serious shortage of homes.

An extensive residential building program would prove an important boost to recovery on many fronts. If the federal act succeeds in supplying the necessary stimulation, it will have accomplished important results. To provide easier financing, though, is unlikely alone to do this.

THE LONE WOLF SON

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

SYNOPSIS

Aboard the S.S. "Navarre," bound for New York, Michael Lanyard, reformed "Lone Wolf" and underworld celebrity, is reunited with his son whom he thought dead. The boy, "Maurice Parry," has followed in the "Lone Wolf's" footsteps, but Lanyard hopes his son's interest in Fanno Crozier, lovely daughter of the wealthy Mrs. Crozier, will prove a good influence. Maurice steals Mrs. Crozier's Habsburg emeralds. Lanyard retrieves them for Fay, Detective Crane warns Lanyard to watch out for the vengeance of "Jack Knife" Anderson and "English Archie," two gunmen whom Lanyard exposed for cheating Maurice at cards. Shortly afterwards, the gangsters steal Mrs. Crozier's emeralds and plant them in Lanyard's cabin. Maurice saves his father by substituting imitations and secretly placing the emeralds in the purser's care for Fay. Later, when one of "Jack Knife's" accomplices tries to intimidate Lanyard into stealing the emeralds and splitting fifty-fifty with the gang, Maurice appears on the scene, masked. He knocks the gangster unconscious, planting a string of pearls stolen from the notorious gold-digger, Tess Boyce, in the thug's pocket. Lanyard disappears of the society of Tess Boyce for his son, but Fanno asks him to leave Maurice to her. Discussing the Boyce robbery, Detective Plon informs Lanyard that the prisoner swore Lanyard and Maurice planted the necklace on him. M. Isquith, Tess' companion, commands her on her progress with Maurice and Lanyard, adding that they will have them where they want them. Crane is suspicious of Tess' interest in Maurice. He surmises the truth about the Boyce robbery. The detective warns Lanyard to keep his son away from Tess. Fearing another attempt will be made to steal the emeralds, Lanyard advises Fay to arrange for their protection when the boat docks. Lanyard plays bridge with Tess and two of her questionable friends, Fred Isquith and the Rajah of Ladore. The Rajah loses heavily. Tess makes a sporting offer to stake everything the Rajah lost against his ruby ring.

CHAPTER XXIV

The Rajah, with a thin, angry smile, hesitated.

"How much is it, Freddy? How much is His Highness down to the thick?"

"You are thirty thousand up," Isquith consulted the ledger on the back of his score-pad. "Monsieur Lanyard fifteen hundred. I have won eighteen thousand five hundred."

"Fifty grand!" The woman was visibly dashed for an instant, but rallied. "All right: I said I'd do it, and I'm game. I haven't got that much jack with me, though. Only about thirty thousand in cash. I'm afraid."

"I will trust you—provided you lose—to settle with me when we get ashore," Isquith offered. "And if you need more money than you have about you, I shall be only too glad to let you have it."

"And my small gains," Lanyard chimed, "—you may pay me when you like, madame."

"I'll say that's handsome," Tess Boyce took up her gold-mesh bag, fished out a stout sheaf of American bank-notes, snapped off the rubber band that bound it, and counted it out at the Rajah's elbow. "Thirty grand, I make it," she announced, "—leaving me barely five hundred to tip and squeeze through the customs with. Well, Your Highness: how about it?"

The thin smile was as fixed as if painted, the eyes it framed incandescent. With a sharp "Done!" the Rajah stripped his finger of its rings, deposited the ruby upon the bills, and picked up his hand.

Tess Boyce as the dealer had the privilege of uttering the first bid. "Four hearts," she made it before her cards were fully sorted.

This the Rajah smartly topped with "Four spades!"

Lanyard studied his hand. He held three hearts to the king. Five diamonds to the ace and queen, five clubs to the king, knave, ten. Following an established convention of American bidding, he overcalled the Rajah's bid with "Five spades"—which amounted to informing his partner in so many words: "I have support for your hearts, some side strength and can promise you that if hearts are trumps, the Rajah's spade will never take a trick."

Isquith passed: the Boyce calmly called, "Six hearts"; the Rajah, snappishly, "Six spades!" Whereupon Lanyard made his strength in clubs and diamonds known by saying: "I double."

Isquith said: "I pass." The woman announced: "Seven hearts!" The Rajah doubled, and his double standing, led the ace of spades, which, when Lanyard's hand went down, the declarer trumped in dummy. Then, having drawn the adverse trumps in two rounds of play, she happily exposed her hand.

"No use playing it out," she said: "I have the king jack of diamonds, a singleton ace of clubs, and my losing spades I can slough on the set-up diamonds and the club king. Grand slam bid, and we score the first game."

"One moment, please." The accents of the Rajah were strained, his eyes like live embers; the skin of his face was gray beneath its stain; upon his temples veins stood out like buried cords. "I protest, Monsieur Lanyard's bid of spades when he held none was unethical—"

"Your Highness must know," Lanyard protested, "that such an overall is a recognized American convention—"

"But a false bid, unfair and fraudulent, which would unquestionably result in the bidder's expulsion from any British card-club."

After a moment Lanyard in iced accents pursued: "Your Highness, in other words, accuses me of cheating."

"The thin, set, dark smile held; the black eyes burned but never gave to Lanyard's challenge; three dry syllables, hard as stones, slipped the full red lips:

"As you like."

"Monsieur!"

Without memory of having staid, Lanyard found himself standing with a hand lifted to strike. This, however, Isquith caught and stayed.

"Don't be a fool, Lanyard!"

"The advice is sound," the Rajah remarked. He had not budged. His eyes of cold fire still held Lanyard's. "I must tell you, monsieur, my servants here hold a person sacred. If you should be so mad as to attack me, they would kill you without an instant's grace."

Lanyard used an instant to confirm this statement with evidence apparent at a glance: three staid, tall, turbaned natives of the Rajah's suite were closing in on him, all lightly poised, ready to pounce. And all at once he ceased to struggle against Isquith's restraining hand.

"Very well," he said with a shrug of disdain. "If you prefer to avail yourself of the refuge of a coward—"

"Oh, that be blowed! This is too ridiculous. Whatever became of the ring, I didn't take it, and all of you know it. I could only have done so by reaching clear across the table where you left it, between your elbow and Madame Boyce's—and that without being observed! The Lone Wolf in his prime couldn't have managed such a miracle of legerdemain. Admit it was hardly intelligent of Your Highness to try to frame the one in the poorest position to perform it."

But the Rajah's vocabulary was lean in respect to the American vernacular. Frankly at a loss, he queried: "Frame?"

"Admitting that there was any such theft while I was in the picture, your first and last thought was to fit a frame round me as the culprit."

"But my dear sir," Isquith loftily expostulated, "you are hardly in a position to deny you were in the picture."

"I am by no means satisfied that I was."

"But you were here!"

When I WAS a medical student cases of cirrhosis of the liver were frequently encountered in hospital wards. Today, this condition is not commonly seen, although it is still to be found in large institutions.

Cirrhosis of the liver, like other disturbances of the important gland of the body, is now more thoroughly understood than in former years. Great strides have been made by the medical profession in the early recognition of all disorders of the liver. Special tests and diagnostic methods, unheard of twenty-five years ago, are now available to the doctor.

Necessary to Life

The liver is one of the largest organs in the body. It is located in the abdomen, on the right side, just below the diaphragm. We cannot live without this important structure and once it becomes diseased serious changes occur.

In cirrhosis the liver becomes firm and hard. It is unable to perform the work which is so essential to good health. Its most important function is to aid in the absorption of fats and in the manufacture of red blood corpuscles. It will be seen that great attention in the mechanism of this organ will result in trouble.

For many years cirrhosis of the liver was believed to have one cause, the consumption of large quantities of alcohol. This was the opinion because cirrhosis was rarely seen in individuals who abstained from alcoholic beverages. Today, we know that although alcohol is an important factor in producing cirrhosis, other causes, such as infection and certain physical defects, may lead to this serious disorder.

Diet Is Important

There can be no question of the importance of the liver in maintaining health. Through this vital organ all the blood of the body travels continuously. The blood, which absorbs most of the food we eat, is carried to the liver. There certain substances are filtered and the waste products removed.

Persons who are susceptible to liver disturbances should avoid irritating foods, such as spices, salt, peppers, condiments and fried substances. Above all, alcoholic beverages should be avoided. Where possible, all centers of infection within the body should be removed.

Bear in mind that the liver, like other structures, may be involved in diseases such as cancer, tuberculosis and other serious infections. Early recognition of this menace to health is imperative for speedy cure.

Answers to Health Queries

G. E. O. Q.—Would a sharp, piercing pain in the vicinity of the heart necessarily indicate a heart condition or would the symptom be due to indigestion? This often occurs after eating.

A.—It may be due to indigestion, but it would be well to have the heart examined to make sure that it is perfectly normal. Indigestion frequently aggravates a heart condition. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Miss S. L. Q.—I have always been underweight. Would I gain more readily if I were to cut down on cigarettes?

A.—If you smoke excessively, this may be one reason why you don't gain weight. You should eat a well balanced diet. Be out in the fresh air and sunshine as much as possible. For full particulars restate your question and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ASHVILLE

At a meeting of the Asheville Community Club at the Council house, Wednesday night a report was made of the sixth annual 4th of July, celebration which was gratifying in every particular. As usual the attendance was not large, but the enthusiasm more than made up for this deficiency. The bills were audited by the committee and disclosed the fact that the meet was the most successful, both socially and financially, in history. (The net proceeds will be used for a commendable purpose as in the past. The crowd in attendance numbered approximately ten thousand as verified by a check of the automobiles by different parties, and the feature that most pleased the boosters was that our visitors were well satisfied with the entertainment and were able to offer them and the courtesies extended on every hand and will look forward to a return visit next year.

INNSBRUCK—Indicative of an easing in the strain between Germany and Italy in South Tyrol is the order just promulgated permitting resumption of German language private instruction. Previously such instruction has been prohibited and was punishable by heavy fines if a teacher was convicted of the charges. Four hours a week may now be devoted to the study of German in private schools.

RELIEF CHISELERS WILL FACE ACTION

YOUNGSTOWN, July 14—A campaign against "relief chiselers" here caused withdrawal of over 100 families from charity lists and promises further reductions soon.

The "chiselers" are people who have money in the bank or who have other possessions and are not actually in want, and yet illegally tap the funds provided by the state relief administration. One case was uncovered by relief administrators in which the recipient of charity had $2,000 in the bank deposited under another name.

Judges are combatting the situation by putting the offenders to work rather than in jail. The first known "chiseler," who was brought to court for making a false affidavit as to his needs, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months.

Police Judge H. P. Beckenbaugh, seeing that the man would still be a charge against the city while serving his sentence, ordered another hearing and sentenced the man to work days to serve out his sentence in jail at night.

Further action in similar cases is expected and the cuts in relief lists are expected to facilitate distribution of funds among actual needy cases. The county has been unable to handle its own relief problems during the past year, and state funds have been used entirely.

No Lull for Hull With Foreign Problems Breaking Fast Furious

WASHINGTON—No matter how hot the Summer, some twist of fate usually decrees that the foreign problem of the United States shall break fast and furious when people are supposed to be vacationing. . . . This is true now. Secretary Hull led what he thought was a busy Winter. But it had nothing on the present. Now he is flooded with cable reports on Hitler's "purging," with notes on German debt defaults, with naval negotiations in London, and with the problem of negotiating new tariff treaties. . . . Summer usually is this way in foreign affairs. Reason: Summer is not so hot in Europe, and in South America it is now winter. . . . Captured by Bandits

Sven Hedin

Here is Sven Hedin, noted Swedish explorer and author, who reportedly has been captured by a brigand Moslem chieftain, General Ma Chung-Ying, and a group of Turkestan bandits in the wilds of Hsinking province.

The Declaration of Independence because their ancestors—who were signers—have been left out. "I tell them they should have brought that up in 1919," says Fairman.

Exit MacDonald

Confidential word from London is that Ramsay MacDonald's three months' vacation was a move to snipe him permanently and that probably he will not come back. Labor leader, now National Premier, has aged rapidly, has difficulty in speaking on the floor of Commons. . . . "Ma" Perkins is handling her new job of labor dispute conciliator without the General Johnson pyrotechnics, but with force and poise. Her comeback to a place of labor power, after having been shelved by Johnson and Wagner, has been remarkable. . . . Miss Perkins pronounces "employee" with a French ending as if it were "employ-ay."

Non-Sectional

Senator Bill Borah will draw no sectional lines in his stamping campaign. . . . The Idaho Democrat has received numerous invitations from the South and East, plans to speak in both sections which hot weather moderates. . . . Particularly intrigued by the number of requests that have come from Southern centers, Borah says: "I'm out to convert Democrats as well as Republicans." . . . The better to keep a watchful eye on the bull-and-bear boys, the Securities Exchange Commission is considering setting up branch offices in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and San Francisco. . . . There is one Republican quarter where "Young Teddy" Roosevelt's super-zealous activities on behalf of the Young Republican Club are not appreciated. . . . A number of veteran Republican Senators received briskly-worded letters from the Colonel informing them that he would be pleased to enroll them as members if they sent checks for $60. . . . Their snorts of indignation were loud and profane.

Sales Tax

Insiders are whispering that after the Congressional elections are safely out of the way, the sales tax will be trotted out and a strong drive launched to put it over at next year's session of Congress. . . . The President, they hint, is fully apprized of the plan. . . . Michigan's multi-millionaire Senator Jim Couzens has gone ritzy in a big way this summer. . . . Jim has chartered a palatial ocean-going yacht; with his family and select friends is touring the Great Lakes

Alibi for Accused Murderer?

An alibi witness assertedly will testify for Millard Hickman, whose trial for the murder of Louise Jeppesen, Utah society girl, discovered strangled after a gay party, has opened in San Francisco. Here are shown the marine engineer defendant, right, with his attorney, Edwin V. McKenzie; inset, Miss Blanche McKay, former law student, who testifies for Hickman.

The vessel is the size of a young cruiser. Its hull is jet black, its super-structure gold and white, and it has a bridge that would turn an ocean liner green with envy. . . . The Bureau of Printing and Engraving is working overtime these hot Summer days rushing dies for the new silver certificates soon to be issued. . . . Such greenbacks are not new, over $495,000,000 already being in circulation. But the new certificates will be of a distinctive design. They will be issued in all denominations. . . . New Jersey millionaire banker Senator "Ham" Kean is such a die-hard "rugged individualist" that he is seriously engaged in breeding a type of what he calls "rugged chickens" on his elaborate model farm. . . . "Ham" says he wants to raise a breed of chickens "able to take care of themselves under all kinds of conditions." Several American businessmen spent an evening recently with popular Boris Skvirsky, Counselor of the Soviet embassy. They explained to him American business methods and system. Skvirsky was keenly interested. After several hours one of the Americans observed: "I think we could make a capitalist out of you." Skvirsky laughed, looked at his watch, replied: "I'm afraid not. It's 11:30, and you won't have time." . . . Several new agricultural processing taxes are in the making. . . . AAA executives are quietly preparing plans to put such assessments on rye and flax in the not distant future.

LOST 20 LBS. OF FAT IN JUST 4 WEEKS

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment." Fat folks should take one half tea-spoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tons of thousands of pounds and know. For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drugstore—the cost for a bottle lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

HITLER AVOWS ROEHRM DEATH SAVED NATION

Again he had introduced executions without trial as a political instrument.

He had threatened the nation into a paralyzed anxiety. The Germans had voted overwhelmingly for Hitler but yesterday afternoon it was doubtful whether Hitler would have gotten a bare majority if the nation had been given an opportunity to vote.

Today all is changed. It is hard to convey to the foreign public what waves of relief went over Germany as the Germans heard last night and read Hitler's convincing account of Capt. Ernst Roehm's revolt.

It is all very well to pick flaws in it, but to a neutral, skeptical observer, it seemed quite certain that Hitler did really save Germany from a reign of terror by perverse and inhuman brutes and from incalculable misery. He certainly made the German people believe him as he described how Roehm, the perpetual revolutionary, wanted to arrest him and wanted to do away with all conservative councillors—wanted to let the Brown Shirts out on the streets to kill without limit.

EXPLAINS ACTION

Finally, he made his own willingness to kill his old time friends his newly discovered betrayers, explicable as he declared that at one time a conspirator had confessed that he had been chosen and agreed to kill Hitler if necessary.

History may have another verdict but at the moment the German people have welcomed Hitler's statement with pathetic gratitude. Hitler was all they had. To the vast majority of Germans he meant Germany.

If Hitler had failed them, if he had merely killed Roehm and his confederates to remove an inconvenient element in his political

Dead in Mystery

Miss Marian Mills, 20-year-old former campus beauty, and daughter of an associate professor of the University of Oklahoma, who died under mysterious circumstances at Norman, Okla. Mrs. Hazel Brown, fraternal house cook, in whose home the girl died, blamed the tragedy on an overdose of a "quack" remedy taken in an attempt to avoid motherhood.

set-up, then the Germans felt there was no more to hope for. Now he has proved to their satisfaction that he is the Hitler they believed him.

More than that, he has proved he was a personal hero. The Germans accepted absolutely his own statement that in the decisive moment, when the time came to arrest and order the execution of the traitors "I was responsible for the fate of the German nation and in those 24 hours I was the German supreme court myself."

Frederick the Great never said anything so audacious and Louis XIV only equalled it when he said "I am the state."

ACCEPTED HIS WORD
But the important thing about it in modern Germany is that the Germans accepted it from Hitler.

This was Hitler's first accomplishment. Its full significance, however, only becomes apparent after consideration of what Hitler had to do.

He was faced with three prime difficulties. First, his loss of prestige in his party and in Germany. Second his foreign political isolation. Third, and most important, the economic plight of Germany.

Last night he might have discussed all these things. He didn't because he knew that before he could do anything at all about foreign politics or economics he had to restore his domestic political position. He concentrated on that, entirely. He succeeded in his aim. Once more he is the prophet of the Third Reich. By oratory he has repaired the cracks in his halo.

Now he can go ahead and attempt to shatter the web of pacts Louis Barthou, foreign minister of France, has woven about Germany.

He must now turn his mind to the failure of the potato crop, the food and goods shortage, and the currency difficulties. He has talked the German nation again into backing him.

Together they face a hostile outside world and a hostile nature.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

BOARDING houses are about the most interesting places in the world, I guess, and there's been a lot written about the romances that start there. When a boarding house bachelor marries a girl from outside the house, he generally brings her to dinner a few times at his old boarding house, just to show her off to the other boarders and make the boys all jealous.

Well, there was an old-time bachelor boarder at a good boarding house in Indianapolis. He was one of these Indiana poets you hear so much about, and he made a lot of friends at the table by not reciting his poetry.

This guy liked honey, and since he was an old boarder they always put some on his table, near his plate. He'd been gone on his wedding tour, and when he came back with his wife to eat Sunday dinner at the boarding house, he wanted to show off to his wife as well as to the other fellows. So when the waitress comes around, he says, "What's happened to my honey?" It was easy to see there wasn't any honey on the table.

The waitress kinda blushed a little, and then she says, "Oh, you mean Clara, the blonde you was sweet on? Excuse me, I'd forgot you was used to call her honey! She's on her vacation today."

And the bride says, "I reckon I'll be going along. I don't feel like eating dinner today anyhow."

HITLER AVOWS ROEHRM DEATH SAVED NATION

Nazi Leader Restores Himself to Good Faith With Address

GERMANY PLEASSED

Says Orders Had Been Given to "Kill"

BY H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
Copyright, 1934, by International News Service.

BERLIN, July 14.—Adolf Hitler today is once more the boss of Germany.

Most of Germany's 65,000,000 citizens heard his speech last night. But today they were reading it all over again, and its cleverness and its drama have brought Hitler's prestige again almost to the level of that stage of national enthusiasm which accompanied his ascension to power.

If he has lost some hundreds of thousands, or even a million, storm troopers, he has gained, perhaps, at least as many supporters among those who hated the storm troopers.

Two sets of considerations show the extent of Hitler's political genius. First, it is necessary to appreciate the frame of mind of the German nation last night before Hitler's Reichstag address, and the tension through Germany was great. That was apparent to the most obtuse observer.

CROWDS NERVOUS
The crowds which awaited his passage through the streets of Berlin were white-faced with nervous strain. Why?

Because all Germany had staked its future on Hitler's last hope and because the events of June 30 and thereafter, even Hitler had become suspect. He had killed scores of his old friends and said they were traitors.

But were they? He had laid bare the murderous differences within the Nazi party.

DAYTON, July 14.—Former Gov. James M. Cox, in a public statement issued here today, announced his intention of supporting Congressman Charles West, Granville, for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator in the August 14 primary election.

Among his reasons for supporting West, the former governor offered his opinion that Gov. George White cannot be nominated and that former Gov. A. Vic Donahey, as the only remaining alternative to Congressman West, "is not in sympathy with the program of President Roosevelt."

WOMEN'S CLUB PLANS OUTING

Picnic For All State Candidates In Near Future; Countians Heard.

Pickaway-co Democratic Women's club will sponsor a picnic soon at which all Democratic state candidates will be invited, it was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the organization Friday evening.

The social and program committees of the group have been placed in charge of the meeting and will announce the date of the picnic at a later date.

Twenty-three district and county candidates were present for the court room meeting of the group last night. Mrs. J. B. Cromley, president of the women's group, introduced the candidates, allowing each to make a two-minute talk.

MADER HAS PROGRAM
Three candidates for the Democratic nomination for congressman from the 11th district were present and all pledged their support to President Roosevelt and the New Deal. John F. Mader, this city, Louis M. Day of Chillicothe, and H. B. Welch of Rockbridge were the candidates present. Mr. Mader made known his program in a pamphlet which he distributed. He has a number of points, many of which call for reform, others pledging support to Pres. Roosevelt.

Three of the four Democratic candidates for representative to the General Assembly from Pickaway-co were on hand, H. M. Crites, Clark Hunsicker and A. H. Crownover. Mr. Crites said: "I don't have any platform—I just promise to represent you."

Mr. Hunsicker said he believed his farming and business experience qualified him for the job. Mr. Crownover expressed his willingness to cooperate with local organizations in serving the people to the best of his ability.

WHEAT CLIMBS TO 87 CENTS AT ELEVATORS

Gains 12 Cents Since Monday When Price Offered Was 75 Cents

CHICAGO NEARS $1

Bumper Corn Crop Is Also Expected

Climaxing a steady climb, wheat reached the 87-cent mark on the local market Saturday reflecting advances at Chicago. The cash price offered to farmers today was two cents higher than Friday's of 85 cents.

Each day during the past week saw a higher offer for the golden grain. Monday's offer was 75 cents, Tuesday's 76, then came a five cent jump to 81 on Wednesday, 82 on Thursday and three cents higher to 85 on Friday.

99 1-9 AT CHICAGO

September wheat on the Chicago board of trade reached 99 1-9 cents at its high Saturday but fell slightly to 98 5-8 cents at the close of the market.

The spread between the Chicago quotations and the local prices runs from 10 to 15 cents a bushel to cover the cost of handling and freight.

In spite of the up trend of the last week elevator men discreetly refrained from recommending that farmers store their wheat for further advances. However, one large handler in the county said the practice had shown a sudden increase.

Most of the wheat coming in now is too damp to command full price in some instances a deduction in the price has been necessary.

By late next week it is believed the greater portion of Pickaway-co's wheat will have been threshed. In nearly every instance yields have been greater than farmers anticipated. Generally the wheat is the best quality in recent years.

CORN IMPROVING

While the corn crop a month ago was threatened by a severe drought, Pickaway-co farmers are now expecting a bumper crop, assuming it isn't blown down by wind storm, infested by corn borers or chinch bugs, or by some other pest that makes a practice of causing damage. Rains in June and July have resulted in a rapid growth.

Man, 28, Admits Slaying Girl, 8

Killed Pet First, Then Choked and Beat Girl; Tried To Bury Body.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Nervously pacing his cell, Albert Ruske, 28, unemployed mechanic who confessed to the brutal slaying of 8-year-old Elaine Watson, asked his jailer today:

"What will they do to me?" Ruske broke down and confessed to the slaying yesterday, when he viewed the broken body of the little girl in the city morgue.

"First I killed her rabbit," he said. "Then I took a drink. I grabbed her and choked her."

"She got blue in the face and then—I don't remember very well—there was an empty bottle and I hit her on the head five or six times with the bottle."

"When she was dead I tried to hide her body in the basement."

The body of the girl was found partially buried in the basement of Ruske's home. He is the father of three children.

He denied attacking the girl, although the coroner's autopsy revealed she had been criminally assaulted.

Presbyterian Church to Compile Local History

At a recent meeting of the session of the Presbyterian church it was decided to have a Chronological history of the local church compiled, dating from its origin in this city to the present date, and also have an accurate account kept of events of interest as they occur in the future.

The session has appointed Mrs. Blanche McChesman to take charge of this work, the need of which has been keenly felt when the church on various occasions has found it necessary to delve into the past to complete plans for anniversary celebrations and such events.

Hunt Missing New York Boy Feared Kidnaped

Local, state and federal officers have joined in the search for Robert Connor, 21-month-old son of Charles Connor, of Hartsdale Manor, N. Y., state insurance engineer, who vanished after playing in a sandpile near his home. Belief that the boy had been kidnaped was expressed as federal agents, under orders of J. Edgar Hoover, director of investigation in the department of justice, entered the search. Photos show the missing child and his home at Hartsdale Manor.

MISSING CHILD THOUGHT SAFE

Father Says Everything Will Be All Right; Several Theories Seen.

HARTSDALE, N. Y., July 14.—Hope for a "break" sometime today in the suspected kidnaping of 21-months-old Bobby Connor spread rapidly through this exclusive New York city suburb this morning.

Although uncommunicative as to details, Charles H. Connor, father of the missing child, himself gave rise to a report a development was due.

"I don't think there's anything to worry about," he said last night as he came out on the porch of his home to greet reporters. "Things will be all right tomorrow."

Connor's remark was apparent confirmation of a rumor that a ransom note had been received by special delivery mail during the night, although the several local, state and federal authorities here working on the case denied receipt of any ransom communication whatever.

NO ABDUCTION PROOF
In fact, Frank X. Fav, in charge of the department of justice agents working on the case declared: "No actual proof of kidnaping" had been found, and other officials confirmed a complete lack of clues to the child's disappearance at 6:00 p. m. Thursday from a spot

The book when completed will be the property of the church and will be kept there for the use of its members.

Miss Margaret Beck, this city, was the prosecuting witness in the case.

The case was given to the jury Friday at 3 p. m. and the body deliberated until 1 o'clock, but was unable to agree. The jury returned this morning at 9 a. m. and when it had not reached a verdict at 11:30 a. m. Judge Adkins ordered its dismissal.

MAJ. BRAUGHT PUTS O. K. ON COUNTY CHOICE

Relief Chief to Recommend Return of Pickaway to "Good Graces"

RELIEF TO RESUME

"Working for Everyone" Says Hay, Chairman

Howard S. Irwin, 329 S. Washington-st., was approved today by Major E. O. Braught, state relief commissioner, as Pickaway-co's new relief director. Irwin was recommended by the county commissioners who have been working diligently since Wednesday to get the relief situation straightened out. Irwin has indicated his intention to accept the post.

He will succeed E. W. "Grim" Weller, who served from the time of A. J. Dunkel's resignation until relief, state and federal, was withdrawn from Pickaway-co on July 1.

CERTAIN OF APPROVAL

Major Braught said Saturday after a conference with the Pickaway-co commissioners in the morning that he would recommend to the state relief commission meeting next Tuesday that Pickaway-co be restored to good standing in the state and federal relief machinery. It is felt certain that Braught's recommendation will be approved by the commission. Pickaway is the only one of Ohio's 88 counties now outside of the relief fold.

Asked when state and federal relief would be resumed in this county, Major Braught said: "Not later than August 1." The commissioners also added "I had a very pleasant conference with the Pickaway-co commissioners."

FRICITION IS ENDED

It is now believed that all friction which existed between the county quads and the state office has been smoothed over. According to the commissioners Braught treated their very well during the conference Thursday and again Saturday morning. John Hay, chairman of the board, said Friday: "This board is representing every person in Pickaway-co, those on relief, laborers and wealthy alike and everything we have done and everything we will do in the future is for the common good of all."

Just what projects will be forwarded as the program is resumed are not known although the airport project, upon which foreign labor was threatened unless the county returned to the good graces of the relief commission, will probably use between 150 and 160 men as soon as formal steps have been taken. Other projects will probably be advanced as they are needed.

FOOD TO COME TO

It is expected new shipments of food will be started to this city, and it is also believed the rural development program will be resumed.

AUTO WRECKS LOADED WAGON

Leo D. Krieger, of Portsmouth, suffered a severe gash over the right eye, and his niece, Miss Helen Wilson, also of Portsmouth, received a cut on the nose, when their Chevrolet coupe struck a wagon-load of wheat on Route 104 in Wayne-twp Friday afternoon.

William McQuade, Ross-co, had charge of the wagon and was driving south on the road. Miss Wilson, also driving south, attempted to pass the wagon and the front fender of her car caught on the rear wheel of the wagon turning it over.

The wagon, property of Ward Peck, Wayne-twp, was almost completely demolished. Ten bushels of the wheat were lost.

The injury were treated by Dr. G. W. Heffner.

GUARD'S BULLET HALTS CONVICT'S ESCAPE ATTEMPT

JUNCTION CITY, July 14.—A bullet from a guard's gun today had halted the dramatic attempt "Friday the thirteenth" escape of a convicted highway robber Raymond McElhenny, 31, from the brick plant of the Ohio Penitentiary here.

McElhenny, who was sentenced to the prison for 10 to 25 years for highway robbery, was wounded in the thigh as a guard fired on him as he dropped over the high wire fence surrounding the brick plant, and made a short-lived dash for freedom.

We have been studying Jeroboam in our Bible school. He was the first king of the Northern kingdom after the division on the death of Solomon. In order to hold the loyalty of the people and to prevent their going up to the temple at Jerusalem he set up two golden calves in the North and in the South. The pretext that he gave was that it "was too much" for the people to go all the way to Jerusalem to worship. That is one of the easy ways of thinking in which we indulge. It is too much to be asked to go to church every Sunday. It is too hot. It is too cold. It is raining. And so our lax thinking forms our habits and our habits build our character.

One of our great dangers is that we set up golden calves of selfishness and intolerance—for we could never worship an idol, oh no. So we neglect the worship of the true God. Go to church tomorrow, take a friend.

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE CHURCH

Dean Chester Burge Emerson has said, "The business of the church is an inclusive ministry to the whole life of men. It isn't living that matters so much but whether there is a meaning and a worth to living and whether we can find strength and courage to seek and hold them."

"So the church should be a place of instruction, not in pious platitudes but in religious needs; not in social programs but in social purposes. She deals with permanent worth and ultimate realities."

"She must likewise be a place of inspiration. The real contest of human life is how to keep our courage to the sticking point of our ideals. The church is a fellowship of strugglers, not a cloister for saints."

"She must have a ministry of consolation. There is a limit to man's endurance—God must bear the rest. There is an end to man's resistance. God must keep up the fight. The church must help men to this certainty."

GOD'S CARE FOR ELIJAH

LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 17:1-18:19-18.

GOLDEN TEXT—For after all these things do the Gentiles seek: for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. Matthew 6:32.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How God Took Care of Elijah.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How God Took Care of Elijah.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Does God Provide? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God's Constant Care.

1. Elijah's Message to Ahab (v. 1).

This was a most startling message, for Ahab had not only led Israel into idolatry but into the repudiation of the living God.

1. "As the Lord God of Israel liveth," Elijah knew that he represented the living God when he came into the king's presence.

2. "Before whom I stand." Because Elijah stood before God he could stand before Ahab.

3. "There shall not be dew nor rain these years but according to my word." The suspension of moisture continued for three and a half years and was given in answer to Elijah's prayer (James 5:17). Drought was predicted as a punishment for idolatry (Deut. 11:16, 17) and the prophet was now applying the divine judgment.

11. Elijah's Retirement (vv. 2, 3).

As soon as he had delivered his message he retired from the king's side while the penalty of the king's sin should be visited upon the land. Though God's prophets must be separated from men they are in God's presence.

11. God Provides for Elijah (vv. 2:16; 19:1-8).

1. At the brook Cherith (vv. 2-7) God offered a hiding place for his servant who so fearlessly declared his message. He was sustained in a two-fold way.

a. By drinking of the brook (vv. 4-6). While drinking of the literal waters of the brook he was being nourished by the living water from the throne of God.

b. By being fed by the ravens (vv. 4-6). The ravens brought him bread and flesh both morning and evening. Elijah thus enjoyed two meals each day with water to drink. The same God who sustained Elijah still lives and we should trust him for our daily bread. At last the brook dried up because there was no rain in the land. The Lord then instructed him to move.

2. At Zarephath (vv. 8-18). Observe

a. The place (v. 9). Zarephath was at the west side of Palestine near the Mediterranean sea in Gentile territory. In order to reach this place Elijah had to cross the country from the Jordan to the sea. Perhaps he did this at night in order not to be seen. Zarephath was only a few miles from the home of Jezebel's father.

b. Sustained by a widow (vv. 10-12). "Bring a little water and a morsel of bread," was the request which he made of the widow. This was a great trial to her but God had touched her heart and stirred up faith in her. Her reply reveals her deep distress.

c. Elijah's reply (v. 13). This made plain to her that it was a case of mutual interest to do as the prophet said. "The barrel of meal shall not waste, neither shall the cruse of oil fail." May we learn from Elijah's experience.

(1) The particularity of God's providence. He by preachment meets our daily needs. There are no happenings in God's providence. The woman of Zarephath going out to gather sticks to prepare the last meal met Elijah and is helped for two years.

(2) No matter how small our resources we can do something for God if we will. Let no one be discouraged because he is poor and unknown.

(3) We should give our all to God and trust him for further supply. The best way to help ourselves is to help others. This woman gave one morsel to God's prophet and obtained a supply for herself and family for two or three years.

(4) God often allows us to get down to great extremities in order to teach us that all is from him.

(5) God's dealing with this Gentile woman is a foregleam of his dealing with the Gentile nations.

IV. He Sent an Angel to Cook Elijah's Meal (1 Kings 19:6, 7).

Elijah was greatly discouraged and despondent over the strain of his struggle which culminated on Mt. Carmel. God was very tender in his dealing with him. He not only gave him sleep (v. 5) but provided food for him at the hand of an angel.

Let us earnestly and solemnly surrender ourselves afresh to the Lord Jesus Christ for service. We cannot afford to let the world and in gain or in pleasure a greater inspiration than we can find in our religion.

What is the value of a vacation church school?

The vacation church school serves five purposes. (1) It furnishes to the community children a means of keeping idle hands from evil and enjoying interesting occupation. It is a training school in craft work. Provides Bible knowledge and develops a cooperative Christian attitude. (2) It is a source of comfort to parents to know their children are so ably taken care of in the summer months and they are proud of their achievements. (3) A staff of teachers is developed among the younger students aiding in the vacation school and they can be used in the church school later. (4) The vacation church school brings into the regular Sunday school children who probably could not be reached otherwise. (5) It has opened the door of many non-church homes to the pastor and thus to the church. This brings personal contacts in sickness, death, weddings, baptisms, all of which present opportunities to cement friendships for the church.

Our business is to get rid of evil, not to supervise it.

Circleville Oils Defeat Mecca in 6 to 3 Game

Protecting an early lead the Circleville Oils defeated the Mecca restaurant, 6-3, in a hot ball game Friday evening. A large crowd attended the fray which was considered one of the important games of the second half.

The game ended in an argument when the Oils leading 1-0 by three runs the Mecca put men on first and second with two out. Bunk Radcliff hit a bouncer to Art Steele and when the runner was called out at first base the Mecca players swarmed onto the field objecting to Umpire John Rooney's decision. His verdict stood, however, as umpire's orders usually do, and the ball game was over.

RULE BOOK QUOTED

There shall be no appeal from any decision of the umpire or umpires on the ground that he was not correct in his or their decision that a batted ball was fair or foul, that a base runner was out or safe, a pitched ball was a ball or strike, or on any other decision involving accuracy or judgment; nor shall any decision of an umpire be reversed unless he be convinced that it was a misinterpretation of one of the rules.

The Oils started an offensive against George Vlerhome in the first inning that was short-lived with a runner thrown out at the plate and another at third base. One run scored, however, on hits by White, Purcell, Barnes, Geib and Steele. The Mecca tied it in the second on a walk to Kline, Walker's error on Vlerhome's badly bounding ball and Merle Davis' single.

CRAZY BASE RUNNING

The Oils scored three in the third as Purcell singled and Barnes was safe on Hickey's error to start the inning. Steele singled but Purcell held third; Barnes, however, ran toward third forcing Purcell off and when Gordon dropped his ball the Oil pitcher scored. Barnes made third and Steele second on a further rundown with Barnes making a pretty slide to gain the third sack. Walker then drove a terrific ball to center field that handcuffed Earl Radcliff. Barnes and Steele scoring. The scorer gave Radcliff an error on the ball but it would have been justifiable to have tallied it the other way since the ball was hard hit and low, the fielder running in for it.

One was out when Purcell dropped Bunk Radcliff's pop back of the box. He stole second and took third on a passed ball, scoring on Wilson's fly to left. Kline's double and J. Davis' single were wasted. The Mecca was through scoring until the seventh when Judy Gordon drove one far past the automobiles in left center for the circuit. No one was on base.

The final Oil runs were tallied in the sixth when Walker and Moore singled. Both moved up on White's out and Merriman plated them with a drive to the outfield.

The Oils outthrew the Mecca 13 to 7 committing two errors against four. Carl Purcell, Oil hurler, did pretty well considering that he had spent the day in the Chillicothe city bastille before a fine of $5 and costs was paid. Purcell was picked up after an automobile accident in the Ross-co city. Vlerhome and W. Hegele divided the Mecca mound duties.

Howard White and Purcell each with three hits led the winners while J. Davis and Gordon each had two for the losers, the latter's being a home run and triple, both coming with the paths empty.

Charlie Scott and John Rooney were the umpires.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Next week's schedule:
Monday, Circleville Oils vs. Circle City dairy.

Tuesday, Given Oils vs. McClarren Meats.

Wednesday, Eshelman Feeds vs. Purina Chows.

Thursday, an open date the Container Corporation and Mecca restaurant postponing its game because of the Camp Perry training.

Friday, Eshelman Feeds vs. Circleville Oils, postponed contest.

Sunday afternoon will find two games in play on the S. O. Electric field. The Container Corporation plays the United Woolen mill team of Columbus at 1:30 o'clock, and at the conclusion of that fray the Purina Chows and Circle City dairy will engage in a practice session.

An important meeting of managers is scheduled for Monday evening with all final player lists to be filed. All teams were entitled to 12 players. No transfers or trades from one team to another are permitted from now on the remainder of the half. One of the most recent releases was Bud Miller from the McClarren Meats to the Purina Chows; he'll play right field for the Purina team giving that outfit a nice lineup.

PHELPS TOO TOUGH, RED BIRDS BEATEN

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 14.—Their wings clipped by a 7 to 1 defeat handed them yesterday by the St. Paul triple A club, the Columbus Red Birds today were to again face the Saints in an attempt to avenge the loss.

The Saints earned five runs in the first two innings of the tilt yesterday, and with Babe Phelps, pitching almost shout-out ball for them, they coasted to victory.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 14.—Their series evened when the Toledo Mud Hens beat the Minneapolis Millers 7 to 4, the two teams were to meet here again today.

Uhl and Perrin pitched the Toledoans to the win while Starr and Marrow worked on the mound for the Millers. Starr was marked up with the loss and Perrin was credited with the win.

HUNT CAR DRIVER

At the direction of Police Chief Philip McQuillan, detectives launched an intensive search for a mysterious young woman who was seen at the wheel of a speeding sedan shortly after the baby vanished. A description of the agitated girl, hunched over the wheel of the car, was furnished by Howard Schwagerman, father of Ruth Schwagerman, 3-year-old playmate of Bobby. Ruth was the last to see him toddle toward the sandpile where the trail ends.

A bloodhound, property of R. H. Kress, ten-cent store magnate, of Ossining, led a posse of more than 1,000 state troopers, citizens and Boy Scouts to this spot. But there the animal lost the spoor. Repeatedly the dog was brought back to the Connor lawn for a new start. Each time he led his searchers to the sand pile. He was unable, however, to go any further.

Meanwhile the mother of the missing child, Celia O'Connor, recovering from a collapse, found comfort in holding her baby, Julia, seven-months-old, in her arms.

Important Move

A POSSIBILITY of real good being accomplished resides in the move made by the treasury department for two surveys to be conducted this summer.

One of the studies will be in the nature of a financial and revenue survey. The other will deal with money and banking.

"The purpose is to open up the treasury and take a look at it from the inside," the treasury head, Mr. Morgenthau, explained. "The committees will have a free hand to review all treasury policies."

Included in the study by the currency and banking group will be the question of monetary standards, the various types of currency, the various types of credit institutions in the country, their interrelationships and the existing methods of regulation and control thereof, and the relation of credit and currency policy to business stability and maintenance of steady employment."

Of equal importance will be the work of the other group, which will embrace in its survey "the federal tax system with special reference to need for administrative revision and simplification, to the distribution of tax burdens, to the relationship between the federal and the state and local revenue systems, and to the possibility of making use of revenue provisions as business stabilizing devices."

The studies should serve to throw needed light on several important questions, including better coordination among federal, state and local taxes, a move that has been advocated for years by tax experts. What changes in any are needed to give further permanent strength to the American banking system is another question that, in the opinion of some authorities, need to be considered.

If the surveys are to prove profitable, those making them should, of course, possess special qualifications and they should have an absolutely free hand in conducting their studies.

Senator Borah is the best orator in the Senate, according to a poll of newspaper reporters who cover Congress; Senator Glass is the ablest Democrat; Senator Reed the most able Republican and Senator Wagner the most popular and most industrious. Huey Long was left unclassified, something that his colleagues, however, have not been negligent in doing.

Residential Building

HOW the construction industry responds to the federal housing program is a question the answer to which will bear an important relation to general recovery.

The act was intended to aid in the financing of home construction by reducing the interest rates on loans. Interest rates, however, are not the only obstacles holding back construction work. The cost of materials and labor are important considerations.

Passage of the home building act was followed by an announcement from the construction industry that reductions ranging from 10 to 15 per cent in the prices of materials were contemplated in an effort to give a push to the program. Representatives of the building trades, however, have come forward with no statement of the attitude.

There is no doubt that the nation is in need of a great number of new homes. Only about $300,000,000 a year is being placed in new homes now as against something like a billion dollars annually in the years before the depression. This can but mean that there is a serious shortage of homes.

An extensive residential building program would prove an important boost to recovery on many fronts. If the federal act succeeds in supplying the necessary stimulus, it will have accomplished important results. To provide easier financing, though, is unlikely alone to do this.

"THE LONE WOLF'S SON"

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

SYNOPSIS

Aboard the S.S. "Navarre," bound for New York, Michael Lanyard, reformed "Lone Wolf" and underworld celebrity, is reunited with his son whom he thought dead. The boy, Maurice Parry, has followed in the "Lone Wolf's" footsteps. But Lanyard hopes his son's interest in Fenno Crozier, lovely daughter of the wealthy Mrs. Crozier, will prove a good influence. Maurice steals Mrs. Crozier's Habsburg emeralds. Lanyard retrieves them for Fay. Detective Crane warns Lanyard to watch out for the vengeance of "Jack Knife" Anderson and "English Archie," two gunmen whom Lanyard exposed for cheating Maurice at cards. Shortly afterwards, the gangsters steal Mrs. Crozier's emeralds and plant them in Lanyard's cabin. Maurice saves his father by substituting imitations and secretly placing the emeralds in the purse of Fay. Later, when one of "Jack Knife's" accomplices tries to intimidate Lanyard into stealing the emeralds and splitting fifty-fifty with the gang, Maurice appears on the scene, masked. He knocks the gangster unconscious, planting a string of pearls stolen from the notorious gold-digger, Tess Boyce, in the thug's pocket. Lanyard disapproves of the society of Tess Boyce for his son, but Fenno asks him to leave Maurice to her. Discussing the Boyce robbery, Detective Plon informs Lanyard that the prisoner swore Lanyard and Maurice planted the necklace on him. Mr. Isquith, Tess' companion, compels her on her progress with Maurice and Lanyard, adding that they will have them where they want them. Crane is suspicious of Tess' interest in Maurice. He surmises the truth about the Boyce robbery. The detective warns Lanyard to keep his son away from Tess. Fearing another attempt will be made to steal the emeralds, Lanyard advises Fay to arrange for their protection when the boat docks. Lanyard plays bridge with Tess and two of her questionable friends, Fred Isquith and the Rajah of Ladore. The Rajah loses heavily. Tess makes a sporting offer to stake everything the Rajah lost against his ruby ring.

CHAPTER XXIV

The Rajah, with a thin, angry smile, hesitated. "How much is it, Freddy? How much is His Highness down to the three of us?" "You are thirty thousand up," Isquith consulted the ledger on the back of his hand. "Lanyard fifteen hundred. I have won eighteen thousand five hundred."

"Fifty grand!" The woman was visibly dashed for an instant, but rallied. "All right, I said I'd do it, and I'm game for anything. I'll much jack with me, though. Only about thirty thousand in cash, I'm afraid."

"I will trust you—provided you lose—to settle with me when we get ashore," Isquith offered. And if you need more money than you have about you, I shall be only too glad to let you have it."

"And my small gains," Lanyard chimed, "you may pay me when you like, madame."

"I'll say that's handsome," Tess Boyce took up her gold-mesh bag, fished out a stout sheaf of American bank-notes, snapped off the rubber band that bound it, and counted it out at the Rajah's elbow. "Thirty grand, I make it," she announced, leaving me barely five hundred to tip and someone through the customs with me. Well, Your Highness: how about it?"

The thin smile was as fixed as if painted, the eyes it framed incandescent. With a sharp "Done!" the Rajah stripped his finger of its rings, deposited the rubies upon the bills, and picked up his hands. "Tess Boyce as the dealer has the privilege of uttering the first bid. 'Four hearts,' she made it before her cards were fully sorted."

"This the Rajah smartly topped with 'Four spades!'"

Lanyard studied his hand. He held three hearts to the king. Five diamonds to the ace and queen, five clubs to the king, knave, ten. Following an established convention of American bidding, he overcalled the Rajah's bid with, "Five spades!" which amounted to informing his partner in so many words: "I have support for your hearts, some side strength and can promise you that if hearts are trumps, the Rajah's spade will never take a trick."

Isquith passed; the Boyce calmly called "Six hearts"; the Rajah, snappishly, "Six spades!" Whereupon Lanyard made his strength in clubs and diamonds known by saying: "I double."

Isquith said: "I pass." The woman announced: "Seven hearts!" The Rajah doubled and his double standing, led the ace of spades, which, when Lanyard's hand went down, the declarer trumped in dummy. Then, having drawn the adverse trumps in two rounds of play, she happily exposed her hand. "No use playing it out," she said. "I have the king jack of diamonds, a singleton ace of clubs, and my losing spades I can slough on the set-up diamonds and the club king. Grand slam bid, and we score the first game."

"One moment, please." The accents of the Rajah were strained, his eyes like live embers; the skin of his face was gray beneath its stain; upon his temples veins stood out like buried cords. "I protest, Monsieur Lanyard's bid of spades when he held none was unethical."

"Your Highness must know," Lanyard protested, "that such an overall is a recognized American convention."

"But a false bid, unfair and fraudulent, which would unquestionably result in the bidder's expulsion from any British card-club."

After a moment Lanyard in ice accents pursued: "Your Highness, in other words, accuses me of cheating."

"Without memory of having stirred, Lanyard found himself standing with a hand lifted to strike. This, however, Isquith caught and stayed."

"Don't be a fool, Lanyard!" "The answer is, 'No,'" the Rajah remarked. He had not budged. His eyes of cold fire still held Lanyard's. "I must tell you, monsieur, my servants here hold my person sacred. If you should be so mad as to attack me, they would kill you without a second's grace."

Lanyard used no instant to confirm this statement with evidence apparent at a glance: three stalwart and turbaned natives of the Rajah's suite were closing in on him, all lightly poised, ready to strike at all once he ceased to struggle against Isquith's restraining hand.

"Very well," he said with a shrug of disdain. "If you prefer to avail yourself of the refuge of a coward."

"Words mean nothing to me," the Rajah sneered. "What to me are hard names uttered in anger by a common card-cheat? Well?" he interrupted himself to snarl at a fourth servant, who had entered from the ante-room. "What is it?"

"A sahib at the door, Your Highness, asking for Lanyard sahib."

The Rajah made a sign of indifference. "I have not finished," Lanyard declared. "I will be back."

He turned and strode out, to find Maurice with excited eyes awaiting him.

"Forgive me for interrupting the game," he half-panted, and gave a nervous half-laugh. "I couldn't wait; there isn't time; the mail-plane takes off within ten minutes."

"Fenno is going with it. Her mother consented of a sudden, and has offered to treat me to the last untenanted seat. If you have no objection, monsieur, I shall accept."

"And leave me—"

"Only for a day, my father. I should be heartbroken if I couldn't go. It means you must know—it means much to me to be with Fenno. Tomorrow night you will find me waiting at your hotel. It's the Walpole you mean to stop at, I think you told me?"

"Then you consent? Oh, thank you!" The boy fervently embraced his father. "Forgive me if I run—I haven't a minute. You'll be on hand to see us off, won't you?" He went, without pausing to hear the reply, at a heading pelt down the passageway.

Lanyard took a moment to collect himself before going back to the scene of the card-game; and when he did, caught the host in the act of replacing the telephone upon its bracket.

"Be good enough to sit down, sir," the Rajah welcomed him. "Oh do as you please. . . . The Captain promises not to keep us waiting."

Lanyard frowned in perplexity. "The Captain?" He saw Tess Boyce gazing on him with a curious look of shame in her gray-green eyes. Isquith back in his chair at the table at once ignoring him and looking bored, the Rajah covering him with a mocking face. "Waiting?"

"I have telephoned him, for help in dealing with a new development of this lamentable business."

"Indeed?" Lanyard's eyebrows took a supercilious climb. "You will only make yourself a laughing-stock if you base a charge of cheating on cards on my use of a bid known to and employed by every good contract player. The choice is yours."

"Unfortunately for you, sir, I have called on the ship's authority in view of another question entirely. The rub is that I had staked on this game a missing. You saw me place it on those bank-notes on the table there. Well, it has vanished. I am determined that no one shall leave these rooms till the ring is found. It should not, however, be difficult to pin the guilt where it belongs. Mrs. Boyce and Mr. Isquith are above suspicion. But you, Lanyard, if I am rightly informed, were once called the Lone Wolf."

The first answer Lanyard gave to that was, "No." The second, a laugh of derision in cultural reaction to an announcement which, following too hard on the Rajah's quite childish accusation of cheating, surcharged the moment with dramatic effect.

Still chuckling, he sat down in the handiest chair, not the one that had been his at the card-table, and with dancing eyes viewed the black fire of the Rajah's, the astonished Isquith's, and what looked like a light of begrudged admiration in the Boyce's—and laughed outright again.

"You are pleased, then," the Rajah coldly inquired, "to find this situation amusing?" "Entirely!"

"My compliments on your sang-froid. A jewel of great price disappears when you are present, you who are known as a thief to the police of two continents."

Lanyard chuckled tolerantly. "Oh, that be blowed! This is ridiculous. Whatever became of the ring, I didn't take it, and all of you know it. I could only have done so by reaching clear across the table where you left it, between your elbow and Madame Boyce's—and that without being observed! The Lone Wolf of my prime couldn't have managed such a miracle of legerdemain. Admit it was hardly intelligent of Your Highness to try to frame the one in the poorest position to perform it."

But the Rajah's vocabulary was lean in respect to the American vernacular. Frankly at a loss, he queried: "Frame?"

"Admitting that there was any such theft while I was in the picture, your first and last thought was to fit a frame round me as the culprit."

"But my dear sir," Isquith loftily expostulated, "you are hardly in a position to deny you were in the picture."

"I am by no means satisfied that I was."

"But you were here!"

ASHVILLE

At a meeting of the Asheville Community Club at the Council house, Wednesday night a report was made of the sixth annual 4th of July, celebration which was gratifying in every particular. As usual the attendance was not large, but the enthusiasm more than made up for this deficiency. The bills were audited by the committee and disclosed the fact that the meet was the most successful, both socially and financially, in history. The net proceeds will be used for a commendable purpose as in the past. The crowd in attendance numbered approximately ten thousand as verified by a check of the automobiles by different parties, and the feature that most pleased the boosters was that our visitors were well satisfied with the entertainment and were able to offer them and the courtesies extended on every hand and will look forward to a return visit next year.

INNSBRUCK.—Indicative of an easing in the strain between Germans and Italians in South Tyrol is the order just promulgated permitting resumption of German language private instruction. Previously such instruction has been prohibited and was punishable by heavy fines if a teacher was convicted of the charges. Four hours a week may now be devoted to the study of German in private schools.

No Lull for Hull With Foreign Problems Breaking Fast Furious

WASHINGTON—No matter how hot the summer, some twist of fate usually decrees that the foreign problem of the United States shall break fast and furious when people are supposed to be vacationing. This is true now.

Secretary Hull led what he thought was a busy winter. But it had nothing on the present. Now he is flooded with cables reports on Hitler's "purging" with notes on German debt defaults, with naval negotiations in London, and with the problem of negotiating new tariff treaties.

Summer usually is this way in foreign affairs. Reason: Summer is not so hot in Europe, and in South America it is now winter.

Art Curator Fairman of the Capitol Building says that people frequently criticize Trumbull's painting of

Captured by Bandits

Sven Hedin

Here is Sven Hedin, noted Swedish explorer and author, who reportedly has been captured by a brigand Moslem chieftain, General Ma Chung-Ying, and a group of Turkistan bandits in the wilds of Hsinchiang province.

"I tell them they should have brought that up in 1919," says Fairman.

Exit MacDonald

Confidential word from London is that Ramsay MacDonald's three months' vacation was a move to shelve him permanently and that probably he will not come back

Labor leader, now National Premier, has aged rapidly, has difficulty in speaking on the floor of Commons... "Ma" Perkins is handling her new job of labor dispute conciliator without the General Johnson pyrotechnics, but with force and poise. Her comeback to a place of labor power, after having been shelved by Johnson and Wagner, has been remarkable. Miss Perkins pronounces "employee" with a French ending and it was "employ-ay."

Non-Sectional

Senator Bill Borah will draw no sectional lines in his stamping campaign. The Idaho Democrat has received numerous invitations from the South and East, plans to speak in both sections when a hot weather moderates.

Particularly intrigued by the number of requests that have come from Southern centers, Borah says: "The only to convert Democrats as well as Republicans."

The better to keep a watchful eye on the bull-and-bear boys, the Securities Exchange Commission is considering setting up branch offices in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and San Francisco.

There is one Republican quarter where "Young Teddy" Roosevelt's super-zealous activities on behalf of the Young Republican Club are not appreciated.

A number of veteran Republican Senators received briskly worded letters from the Colonel informing them that he would be pleased to enroll them as members if they sent checks for $60.

Their snorts of indignation were loud and profane.

Sales Tax

Insiders are whispering that after the Congressional elections are safely out of the way, the sales tax will be trotted out and a strong drive launched to put it over at next year's session of Congress.

The President, they hint, is fully apprized of the plan. Michigan's multi-millionaire Senator Jim Couzens has gone ritzy in a big way this summer.

Jim has chartered a palatial ocean-going yacht; with his family and select friends is touring the Great Lakes

Alibi for Accused Murderer

An alibi witness assertedly will testify for Millard Hickman, whose trial for the murder of Louise Jeppesen, Utah society girl, discovered strangled after a gay party, has opened in San Francisco. Here are shown the marine engineer defendant, right, with his attorney, Edwin V. McKenzie; inset, Miss Blanche McKay, former law student, who testifies for Hickman.

The vessel is the size of a young cruiser. Its hull is jet black, its super-structure gold and white, and it has a bridge that would turn an ocean liner green with envy.

The Bureau of Printing and Engraving is working overtime these hot summer days rushing dies for the new silver certificates soon to be issued.

Such greenbacks are not new, over $495,000,000 already being in circulation. But the new certificates will be of a distinctive design. They will be issued in all denominations. New Jersey's millionaire banker Senator "Ham" Kean is such a die-hard "rugged individualist" that he is seriously engaged in breeding a type of what he calls "rugged chickens" on his elaborate model farm.

"Ham" says he wants to raise a breed of chickens "able to take care of themselves under all kinds of conditions."

Several American businessmen spent an evening recently with popular Boris Skvirsky, Counselor of the Soviet embassy. They explained to him American business methods and system.

Skvirsky was keenly interested. After several hours one of the Americans observed: "I think we could make a capitalist out of you."

Skvirsky laughed, looked at his watch, replied: "I'm afraid not. It's 11:30, and you won't have time."

Several new agricultural processing taxes are in the making. AAA executives are quietly preparing plans to put such assessments on rye and flax in the not distant future.

SPEEDY RELIEF FROM BUNIONS—SOFT CORNS

No sensible person will continue to suffer from these painful, agonizing, throbbing bunions until they are treated with the powerful, penetrating, yet harmless, scientific Emu-balm ointment which can be obtained at any well stocked drug store.

Apply a few drops over the inflamed part and see how speedily the pain disappears and the inflammation is reduced. So amazingly powerful is Emu-balm that corns seem to melt away and a lumpy foot is guaranteed.

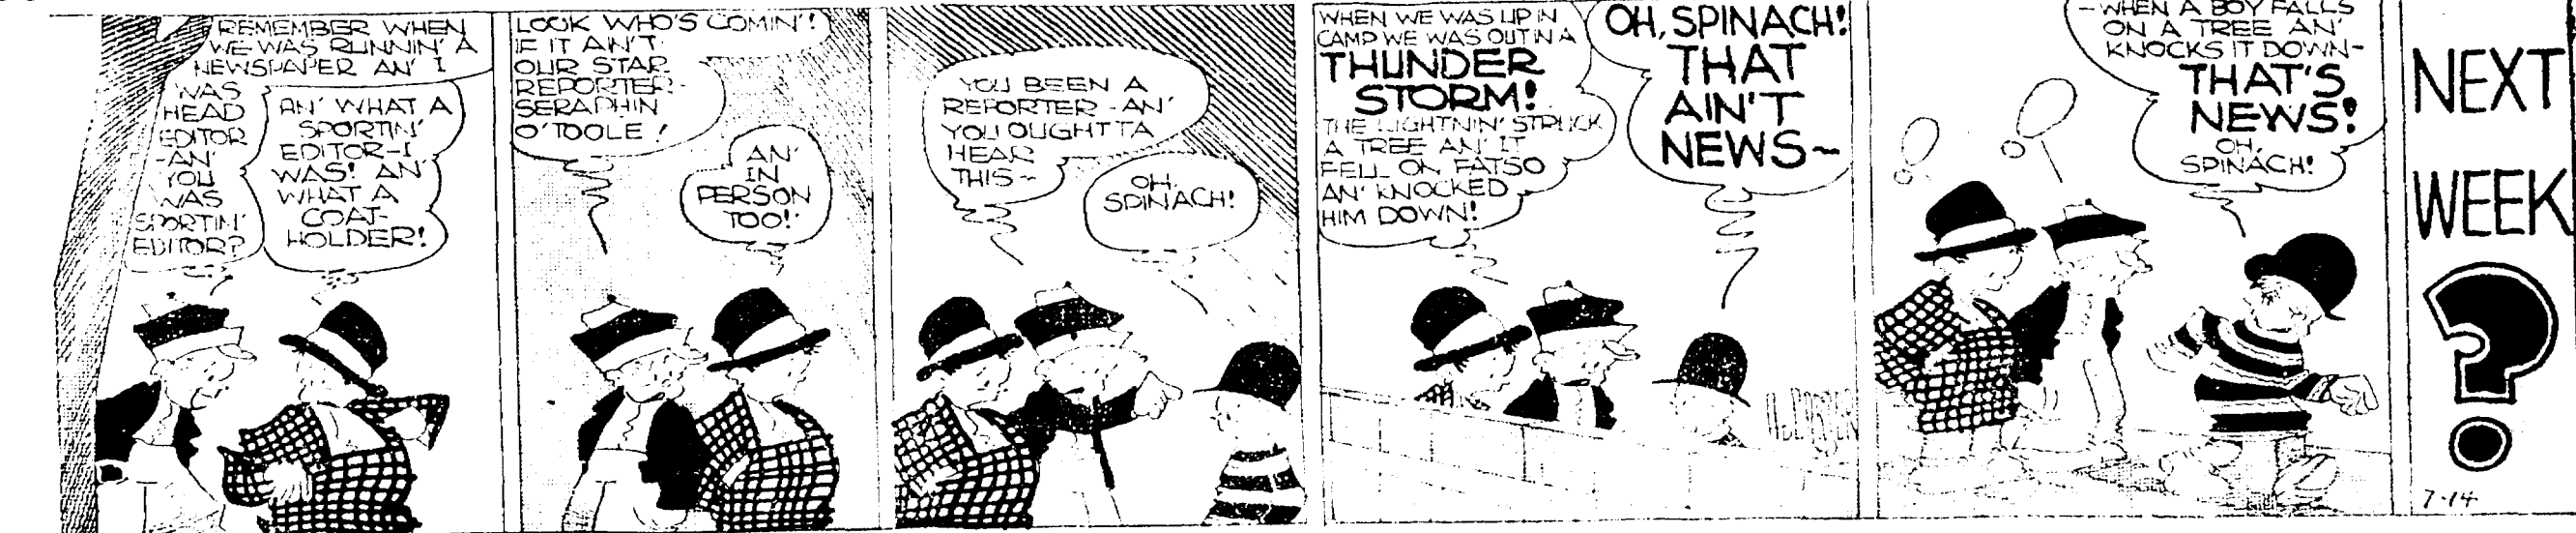

LOST 20 LBS. OF FAT IN JUST 4 WEEKS

Miss Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of Emu-balm. In just 4 weeks ago, I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

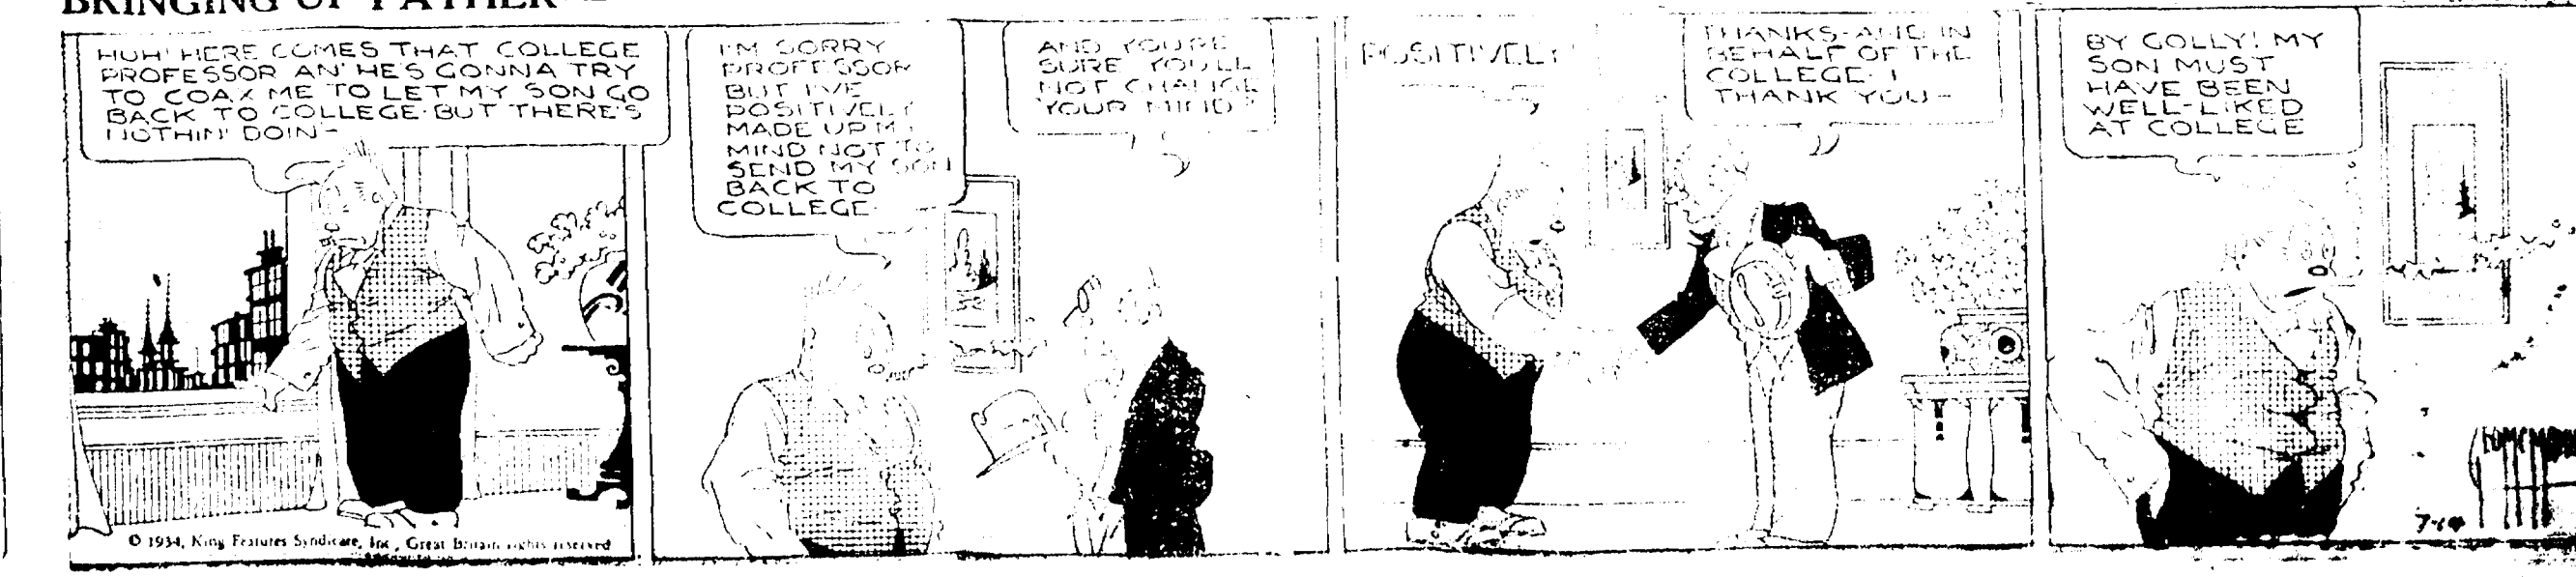

Fat folks should take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salt in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the S.A.P.E., harmless way to reduce in tons of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any grocery—the best for a bottle that lasts 3 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not perfectly satisfied with results—money back.

TO THE VOTERS OF PICKAWAY COUNTY:
Due to the political propaganda that is being circulated over the county as to who my deputies will be if I am nominated and elected sheriff of this county, I wish to make the following statement:

I have made no promises to anyone and I challenge anyone to prove that I have promised him a job as deputy. I did not make those kind of promises four years ago in order to get votes and I will not do it this time. But I will say that if I am fortunate enough to be nominated and elected your sheriff, I will give all applications coming to me from good honest and respected citizens of this county due consideration.

HITLER AVOWS ROEHM DEATH SAVED NATION

Again he had introduced executions without trial as a political instrument.

He had threatened the nation into a paralyzed anxiety. The Germans had voted overwhelmingly for Hitler but yesterday afternoon it was doubtful whether Hitler would have gotten a bare majority if the nation had been given an opportunity to vote.

Today all is changed. It is hard to convey to the foreign public what waves of relief went over Germany as the Germans heard last night and read Hitler's convincing account of Capt. Ernst Roehm's revolt.

It is all very well to pick flaws in it, but to a neutral, skeptical observer, it seemed quite certain that Hitler did really save Germany from a reign of terror by perverse and inhuman brutes and from incalculable misery. He certainly made the German people believe him as he described how Roehm, the perpetual revolutionary, wanted to arrest him and wanted to do away with all conservative councillors—wanted to let the Brown Shirts out on the streets to kill without limit.

EXPLAINS ACTION

Finally, he made his own willingness to kill his old time friends, his newly discovered betrayers, explicable as he declared that at one time a conspirator had confessed that he had been chosen and agreed to kill Hitler if necessary.

History may have another verdict but at the moment the German people have welcomed Hitler's statement with pathetic gratitude. Hitler was all they had. To the vast majority of Germans he meant Germany.

If Hitler had failed them, if he had merely killed Roehm and his confederates to remove an inconvenient element in his political

FARMER INJURED

Ray Sauer, of north of Clarksville, suffered a badly gashed right hand Thursday evening while using a pitchfork to load wheat at the Thomas Carter farm near Brown's Chapel.

While loading wheat, a sheaf began slipping from the pitchfork Carter was using and when he grabbed for it, he caught his right hand in the separator blades, tearing a gash from the end of the little finger to the wrist.

The injury was treated at the office of Dr. Cooper in Clarksville. He lives on the Fulton Hyde farm.

Dead in Mystery

Miss Marian Mills, 20-year-old former campus beauty, and daughter of an associate professor of the University of Oklahoma, who died under mysterious circumstances at Norman, Okla. Mrs. Hazel Brown, fraternal house cook, in whose home the girl died, blamed the tragedy on an overdose of a "quick" remedy taken in an attempt to avoid motherhood.

set-up, then the Germans felt there was no more to hope for. Now he has proved to their satisfaction that he is the Hitler they believed him.

More than that, he has proved he was a personal hero. The Germans accepted absolutely his own statement that in the decisive moment, when the time came to arrest and order the execution of the traitors "I was responsible for the fate of the German nation and in those 24 hours I was the German supreme court myself."

Frederick the Great never said anything so audacious and Louis XIV only equalled it when he said "I am the state."

ACCEPTED HIS WORD

But the important thing about it in modern Germany is that the Germans accepted it from Hitler.

This was Hitler's first accomplishment. Its full significance, however, only becomes apparent after consideration of what Hitler had to do.

He was faced with three prime difficulties. First, his loss of prestige in his party and in Germany. Second his foreign political isolation. Third, and most important, the economic plight of Germany.

Last night he might have discussed all these things. He didn't because he knew that before he could do anything at all about foreign politics or economics he had to restore his domestic political position. He concentrated on that, entirely. He succeeded in his aim. Once more he is the prophet of the Third Reich. By oratory he has repaired the cracks in his halo.

Now he can go ahead and attempt to shatter the web of pacts Louis Barthou, foreign minister of France, has woven about Germany.

He must now turn his mind to the failure of the potato crop, the food and goods shortage, and the currency difficulties. He has talked the German nation again into backing him.

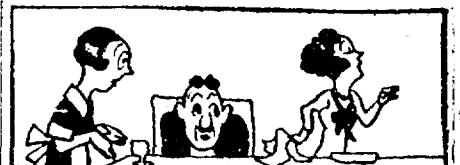

Together they face a hostile outside world and a hostile nature.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

BOARDING houses are about the most interesting places in the world, I guess, and there's been a lot written about the romances that start there. When a boarding house bachelor marries a girl from outside the house, he generally brings her to dinner a few times at his old boarding house, just to show her off to the other boarders and make the boys all jealous.

Well, there was an old-time bachelor boarder at a good boarding house in Indianapolis. He was one of these Indiana poets you hear so much about, and he made a lot of friends at the table by not reciting his poetry.

This guy liked honey, and since he was an old boarder they always put some on his table, near his plate. He'd been gone on his wedding tour, and when he came back with his wife to eat Sunday dinner at the boarding house, he wanted to show off to his wife as well as to the other fellows. So when the waitress comes around, he says, "What's happened to my honey?" It was easy to see there wasn't any honey on the table.

The waitress kinda blushed a little, and then she says, "Oh, you mean Clara, the blonde you were sweet on? Excuse me, I'd forgot you was used to call her honey! She's on her vacation today."

And the bride says, "I reckon I'll be going along. I don't feel like eating dinner today anyhow."
